KING GEORGE CROWNED AMID POMP AND SPLENDOR AT WESTMINSTER

Crown Placed on George's Head Shortly After the Noon Hour by Archbishop of Canterbury

HUNDREDS FAINTED WHILE PROCESSION PASSED

Handed Over the Heads of the Crowds to Officials in Charge of Ambulances---Paid Cheer Leaders Could Not Stir Up Enthusiasm---Greatest Pageant Ever Witnessed in London.

London, June 22.—Amid the most dazzling scene ever recorded in the history of the country England today crowned George V. and his wife, Mary, "King and Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the British dominions beyond the seas."

The crown was placed on George's head at 12:37, London time, and 15 minutes later the queen was crowned. The venerable Archbishop of Canterbury, summoning his rapidly waning strength, with trembling hands placed the crowns on the heads of the new rulers.

Notwithstanding the fact that there were paid cheer leaders along the line of the procession, the vocal outbursts of the crowd were so lacking in spontaneity as to cause comments from loyal Britishers, as well as cynical foreigners. During the procession, hundreds of people, mostly women, fainted in the jams at the sides of the streets, and it was with the greatest difficulty that ambulance workers were able to reach them to render assistance.

In many cases women had to be passed from hand to hand over the heads of the crowd.

Following the crowning of the king and queen in the abbey, the return parade to the palace was started. By this time the crowd had greatly increased along the route of the procession and more trouble was experienced by the soldiers in handling the crowd. Also the enthusiasm manifested by the people was by far greater than during the procession to the abbey.

The humor of the queen and king was better than at any other time and they nodded and smiled to all.

London, June 22.—George V. and Mary III were crowned today King and Queen of "The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British dominions beyond the seas."

To the orthodoxly-minded the ceremony was an awe-inspiring display of pomp and militarism, of ecclesiastical solemnity and of medieval magnificence. To the cynic it was an almost pathetically childish exhibition of delight in finery and spangles. The radical saw in it a positively wicked waste of millions in a country where fully one-third of the population is on the brink of pauperization and one-twentieth is literally starving.

The average Briton is strictly orthodox, however. Before dawn of the people began swarming by hundreds of thousands into the streets through which the royal procession was to pass, between Buckingham palace and Westminster Abbey. The foot and mounted police who shepherded them seemed numberless. Lining the thoroughfares or marching in the procession were nearly 100,000 soldiers under command of Field Marshal Viscount Kitchener. To some extent the tremendous military display was, indeed, necessitated by the shortness of the route and the consequent congestion of the crowd to an extent which, ordinarily as Londoners usually are, would have rendered the ordinary "thin red line" powerless to control it.

Immediately the Abbey doors were opened hours before the actual ceremony, those privileged persons possessing tickets of admission began taking their seats, and as the ancient edifice filled, the eye was dazzled by the sparkling of the women's jewels and the brilliance of the uniforms worn by the men.

7,000 in the Abbey.

Some 7,000 were admitted in all, including 40 members of the royal family and relations, more than 200 foreign princes, princesses and special representatives from every civilized country in the world, 1,420 peers and peeresses, 300 bishops, clergy, statesmen and ambassadors, 900 members of Parliament with their wives and 300 representatives from India and the British colonies. Peers and peeresses were in full robes of scarlet and ermine and carried their coronets ready to put on the moment the crown was placed upon King George's head. Coronets, gowns, chains, orders and medals scintillated in the subdued light, and showed up even more plainly beside the occasional plained costume of some one of less exalted rank than the nobility on the outskirts of the group of higher aristocrats.

Bishops in crimson and lawn, high court judges in scarlet and ermine and full-bottomed wigs, law lords in black and gold, army and navy officers in red, blue, green, black and grey, cabinet ministers in blue, white and gold, members of parliament in black court dress, foreign officers in weird and wonderful colors, eastern

MOB IN WAYNE COUNTY WHITE CAPS MAN WHO WILL PROBABLY DIE

Wooster, O., June 22.—Either death or blindness in both eyes is today facing Michael Hellman of Fredericksburg as a result of the coats of carbolic acid, red pepper and tar and feathers given him Tuesday night by a band of twenty men and women disguised as white caps. Hellman's life is hanging in the balance and the authorities are awaiting the outcome of his condition before making any arrests. Even should he recover it is certain he will be permanently blinded. It today developed that the treatment given Hellman by the white caps far exceeded in severity what was at first supposed. Hellman was taken from his home, stripped of his clothing and with a whip until his flesh was raw, and then successive coatings of a carbolic acid solution, red pepper, hot tar and feathers applied to the bruised flesh. The red pepper was also thrown into his eyes completely blinding.

In this condition he was then ridden on a rail and finally turned loose with orders to run. For ten miles he ran as fast as he could, screaming in agony and then fell unconscious near this city where he was picked up and brought to a physician's office.

The mobbing of Hellman today developed was brought about because of his relations with a Mrs. Rebecca Volk, the mother of seven children. Mrs. Volk had already been ejected from Fredericksburg because of her association with Hellman, and when she and her children came to the village of Trail, Hellman came with them, posing as Mrs. Volk's husband. The village, however, learned of their actual relation and the couple was given to understand it would be better for them to leave. Failing to do so, the mob was formed and summary action taken.

Hellman was able to declare today that he recognized several women in the mob when they mounted him on the rail and they given the names of other members of the band to the village authorities of Trail. Unless he dies however or recovers, and files criminal action it is understood no arrests will be made.

MAY PROLONG THE SESSION ALL SUMMER

BATTLE IS ON AT WASHINGTON
FOR A GENERAL DOWNGRADE
REVISION OF TARIFF.

Senator Penrose Presents Adverse Reports to Upper House and Urges Delay, But His Suggestion Was Defeated.

Washington, June 22.—Adverse reports of the farmers' free list bill and the Underwood tariff bill were presented to the senate by Chairman Penrose of the finance committee today. This action opened the tariff fight which has been threatened in the senate and the battle is on for a general revision of the tariff downward.

"I believe we are confronted with an all summer session that will reach far into the fall," said Senator Cummins, Republican, of Iowa today. "If we succeed in bringing about a general reduction in the tariff the fight will be worth while."

When Senator Penrose presented the unfavorable report on the house wool bill with the suggestion that its consideration be indefinitely postponed others demanded that it be given a place on the calendar and the Penrose suggestion was defeated.

Senator Penrose explained that a majority of the finance committee believed that hearings could not be conducted before July 10, the time fixed by the instructions from the house.

BOYS MUST PAY FOR THE JOY RIDES

Springfield, June 22.—Five boys from wealthy families and unaccustomed to work are carrying newspapers, cleaning gutters, hoeing garden and doing anything else they can find to do to pay for damages to an automobile with which they had been taking nightly joy rides.

The machine is that of H. E. Rice, a local newspaper man. The leader in the crowd was Mr. Rice's 14-year-old son, who stole from his bed at midnight, gathered four or five other boys and took the auto from the garage. The boys pushed the car by main strength down the sloping street until they were far away enough not to awaken the parents by the sound of the engine. They put on speed and drove to surrounding towns.

The last trip they attempted was to Dayton, but hardly had they got out of Springfield when they ran into a telephone pole, in trying to pass another automobile. The Rice auto was damaged to the extent of $200 or more and the whole story had to come out. Mr. Rice lined up the five offenders, got an estimate of damages and told them to get busy. The mothers of the boys agreed heartily with the suggestion and the youngsters will put in the greater part of the vacation period earning money to pay their share.

PHIL B. SMYTHE FELL FROM AUTO RECEIVING FRIGHTFUL INJURES

Was On Way Home From Columbus and Fell From Tonneau Along the Roadside West of Town

Rushed to Hospital Where Injuries at First Were Thought to be Fatal, But After Operation
Surgeons Stated That Mr. Smythe Had Good Chance for Recovery.

Prosecutor Phil B. Smythe's condition at the City Hospital at three o'clock this afternoon was most favorable. After cleansing the wound on the forehead, it was found that the skull was not fractured and the operation of trepanning was not necessary.

Mr. Smythe rallied nicely, and unless some unforeseen complication should develop, will recover in the opinion of the physicians.
There is a concussion of the brain, incident to his fall, but this is considered to be a minor injury, compared to what was feared, and there seems to be no reason that the prosecutor should not recover.
There are no wounds on Mr. Smythe's body, and those thought to be dangerous, have fortunately proven less serious than was feared.
At three o'clock Mr. Smythe was still unconscious, but his pulse was strong and there were other favorable symptoms.

Prosecuting Attorney Phil B. Smythe was very dangerously injured by falling from an automobile shortly after noon today, at a point about five miles west of Newark, and was brought to the city where he was taken in charge by a corps of physicians, who held out little hope of his recovery when they saw the injuries that had been sustained.

He was first taken to the office of Dr. J. W. Hornby on West Main street and later was rushed to the City hospital in the McGonagle ambulance, and in a short time Drs. U. K. Bessington, J. T. Harbottle, J. W. Hornby and H. D. Davis were in attendance upon the injured man. In the meantime the attending surgeons had decided upon an immediate operation.

The physicians upon the first examination of the injuries, were of the opinion that the frontal bone of the skull had been fractured, and after being placed upon the operating table, they said that only an operation could determine the exact nature of his injuries.

The scalp was literally torn off, and other cuts and bruises appeared upon the head and face, but the

POLICE DRAG CREEK FOR BODY OF MISSING GIRL

Annie Bucksar, aged 15 years, has been missing from her home, 276 Wilson street, since 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and her mother, Mrs. William Howard, widow of the late William Howard, who was shot by Carl Eberington, has asked the police department to assist her in locating the girl.
According to the report made to the police, the girl left home shortly after 3 o'clock, saying she was going swimming. She took garments with her for her dip in the cool waters of the South Fork, and that was the last seen of her.
She was a large girl for her age and it is the belief of the police that she will be found safe and sound in the neighborhood of the Wehrle Addition.
This afternoon several patrolmen went to the "swimming hole" on the South Fork with grappling hooks and will drag the stream to satisfy the relatives that the girl's body is not in the stream.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT IN AVIATION RACE

Utrecht, June 22.—Another accident marred the flying of the third stage of the Paris Journal's Paris-to-London and return race by aeroplane.

Soon after starting on the third leg of the flight today from Liege to Utrecht, M. Amerigo monoplane capsize. The aviator was thrown clear of the falling machine and sustained a broken knee and possible internal injuries. Four of the flyers, Gilbert, Vidart, Garros, and Conneau arrived here almost unharmed at 10:20. They were greeted by an immense crowd on landing. Gilbert won the third stage, his time for the distance being two hours and three minutes.

ILL, NEED NOT GO TO PRISON.

New York, June 22.—William A. Dibell, treasurer of the United Wireless Telegraph Company, went free on payment of a fine of $2000, although he had previously been sentenced to a year in jail. He is seriously ill and his recovery is not expected.

FANS DOUBLED CROSSED ARE "HOLDING THE BAG" AS WELL AS BUNCH OF TICKETS

The franchise of the Newark baseball club, together with all players and equipment, left Thursday morning at 9 o'clock for Piqua where the team will play the balance of the season.

The transfer of the club was evidently effected at the meeting Wednesday for Harry Kiene and President Bob Read of the Ohio State league were at Piqua Wednesday making arrangements for the coming of the club.

The Newark players were evidently "hep" to the fact that the Thursday game would be played at Piqua, for before the game Wednesday at Wehrle Park every player had his trunk packed ready to take the train.

The report which President Read made to the Advocate Tuesday night was evidently misrepresented for Mr. Read stated that an official action was taken at the meeting Tuesday afternoon but that it would be definitely settled Wednesday.

Yet Mr. Read and Mr. Kiene were certain enough of the transfer to go to Piqua and make the announcement to the Piqua fans. They instigated the circulation of a petition among the factories and business houses asking for a general holiday. The petition was generally signed and no doubt the opening crowd will be a record breaker.

Newark fans were given the double cross by club owner and league president assisted by another evening paper. No announcement of the transfer was made so the fans who did invest in baseball tickets could use their coupons.

Some of the fans were wise enough to interpret the silence of the State Journal Wednesday morning that the transfer was to be without announcement so the attendance at the Wednesday game in Newark would not suffer.

One fan who has been loyal to the team through all its tribulation saw the handwriting on the wall and advised his friends of the trickery which was being pulled off. As a result forty or fifty tickets which were held by the employees of one industry were sent to the park and sold on the outside of the gates and the money received will be turned over to those who held these tickets.

The Piqua papers were informed that the transfer had taken place and made the announcement in their Wednesday evening editions. They announced the names of the umpires. These papers state that the matter was settled at the meeting in Columbus Tuesday. Yet President Read informed the Advocate over the telephone Tuesday evening that the transfer had not been made.

Owner Harry Kiene was in town Wednesday evening to complete the arrangements for changing his headquarters from Newark to Piqua. There was a difference of sentiment among the players regarding the transfer. Some of them were glad to make the change but the majority of them would have been glad to remain in Newark.

The Marion club which played here yesterday accompanied the Newark team to Piqua and from today on the Molders will play under the name of Piqua.

Chillicothe-2 Hamilton 0.

Chillicothe, June 22.—Beebe and Bush had a pitchers' battle yesterday and the former, though wild at first, had the best of it by keeping the hits scattered. The fielding on both sides was excellent. Score: Hamilton.....0 7 0 Chillicothe.....2 6 1 Batteries—Bush and Kunkle; Beebe and Packard. Umpire—Johnson.

NEWARK WON LAST BATTLE AT THE PARK

Newark won the last game which it will ever play in this city from Marion yesterday afternoon by the decisive score of 14 to 7. Pitcher Reagan was the victim, and why he was left to take the awful beating which he received is still a mystery and probably no one will ever be able to explain it.

Newark players annexed hits of all sorts. There were the bunts beaten out, there were drives to the outfield for singles and doubles, and one was poled to center field which allowed Rudolph, with his game leg, to hobble to third. It would have been good for the circuit with an able man on the path. Munn drove a nice hit over the right field fence and trotted easily around the horn and across the rubber.

Marion did some hitting, too. They got enough hits off Platzer to win an ordinary game, but the overwhelming odds were too much to overcome.

Newark scored in the first inning, skipped the second and counted in the next four frames, shoving eight across in the sixth. They rested in the seventh and put another one across in the eighth.

Marion counted in the first and second, and then went to the seventh before their scoring combination worked again, when they registered four runs. Another came in the eighth but that was all.

In the big inning Newark got eight hits and eight runs, more than batting around. Twelve men faced Reagan and of the eight hits, two were doubles by Goshorn and Newnam. Munn was the only man who did not hit safely in this frame.

Some of the hits were bunts beaten out by the runners and others were scratches, being fielded cleanly without results.

In Marion's big inning, a pass, a single, two doubles and an error gave the four runs to the Diggers.

Fielding stunts by Goshorn, Newnam and Plummer made the game interesting where it would otherwise have been tiresome. The score:

NEWARK MAY GET GRAND RAPIDS CLUB AND FRANCHISE

Newark's respite from organized baseball may indeed be very short. It is highly probable, at least not impossible that the franchise and team of Grand Rapids of the Central League may be brought to Newark to finish the season.

Right now, the Grand Rapids club is being carried by the league officials and the schedule is being played at Grand Rapids this week with the Zanesville club as the opponents.

Grand Rapids has been having rough sailing all season and the fans there are failing to support the team. It is the wish of the league officials and most of the club owners that the Michigan town be cut out.

The Advocate this morning wired President Carson of the Central League at South Bend, asking him what basis of fact there was to the story that Grand Rapids wanted in Newark. His reply was evasive but not discouraging. It was as follows:

"Central League will hold a meeting at South Bend, Monday, June 26. I do not know what may happen at this meeting, but would advise Newark to send a representative."

In all probability, representatives will be sent to South Bend from Newark to present to the league directors facts why Newark would make a good addition to the Central League.

Its greatest advantage will not need to be exploited to the other club owners. Its close proximity to practically every other town in the league is reason enough to make the change if there was no other advantage.

Grand Rapids is so far from any one of the other towns of the league that it means hundreds of dollars in railroad fares, sleeper fares and hotel expenses for the clubs to make the trips. The saving with Newark in the place of the Michigan city would amount to thousands of dollars to the other clubs in a single season.

Kiene's move in taking the Ohio State League Club to Piqua may not only prove disastrous to him, but it may result in a better class of baseball than Newark has seen for some time.

The Michigan town is now in seventh place in the Central League, but is within easy striking distance of the first division. It has a bunch of classy players, among whom is Sandy Murray, formerly of the Newark O. and P. club of 1907.

ended with a fanfare from the silver trumpets.

Communion Service Begun.

Then the king and queen were conducted to the chairs set for them at the south side of the communion table. The noblemen bearing the regalia, except those with the swords, presented their burdens to the archbishop, who delivered them to the Dean of Westminster to be placed upon the altar.

The litany, sung by two bishops, followed and the communion service began. During the litany and the first part of the communion service the king sat bareheaded, but at the beginning of the sermon, a short one preached by the Archbishop of York—he resumed his crimson cap.

The Bishop of Durham and the peers with the swords stood at his majesty's right and the Bishop of Bath and Wells and Earl Carrington at his left. The queen had the Bishops of Norwich and Oxford at her right and left and was supported by her trainbearers and other attendants.

Standing in front of the king, the Archbishop of Canterbury said: "Is your majesty willing to take the oath?"

King George replied firmly and clearly: "I am willing."

"Will you solemnly promise and swear, inquired the archbishop, "to govern the people of this United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the dominions thereunto belonging, according to the statutes in parliament agreed on, and the respective laws and customs of the same?"

"I solemnly promise to do so," said the king.

"Will you to your power cause law and justice in mercy to be executed in all your judgment?" continued the archbishop.

"I will," said the king.

"Will you," said the archbishop, "to the utmost of your power maintain the laws of God, the true profession of the gospel and the Protestant reformation established by law? And will you maintain and preserve inviolably the settlement of the Church of England and the doctrine, worship, discipline and government thereof, as by law established in England? And will you preserve unto the bishops and clergy of England and to the church committed to their charge all such rights and privileges as by law do or shall appertain to them or any of them?"

"All this," said the king, "I promise to do."

Coronation Oath Taken.

This formula concluded, the king arose from his seat and preceded by the sword of state, stepped to the altar, where he uncovered and knelt, while the archbishop presented to him the great Bible, open at the Gospel. Laying his right hand on the book, his majesty said: "The things which I have heretofore promised, I (Continued on Page 7, Col. 1.)

specially constructed boxes in front of which were stationed long lines of scarlet-coated, black-bushed grenadiers alternating with yeomen of the guard in Tudor uniforms of scarlet and gold.

The thrones were placed in the "theatre," or space in front of the altar, at the junction of the choir, transepts and communion enclosure. The floor, which had been raised, was covered by the magnificent coronation carpet of blue and gold, emblazoned with the royal arms and the emblems of England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales and the colonies. The king's throne was elevated upon a dais and approached by five steps, while the queen's, placed alongside, was slightly lower, with only two steps.

Between the thrones and the altar was "St. Edward's chair," the venerable piece of furniture in which every king of England has been crowned since the days of Edward the Confessor. Beneath it is the legendary "Stone of Scone," upon which the ancient kings of Scotland were crowned until Edward I captured it and brought it back to England with him. Nearer to the altar, at one side of the "theatre," were the two "chairs of recognition," for the convenience of the king and queen before the start on the ceremony.

Arrival of the Regalia.

The first sign of real business was the arrival of the regalia and crown jewels, carried in by the canons and chaplains from the Jerusalem chamber, whither they were brought last night from the Tower of London. The canons and chaplains having passed, to the solemn chanting of "Te igitur," a long column of gold and silver encouters took up their positions and the service commenced with a triumphal march by an orchestra and choir of 500, under Sir Frederick Bridge's direction.

At 10 o'clock the full pomp of the ecclesiastical procession was formed for the purpose of carrying the regalia to the vestibule to await their majesties' arrival. To the strains of "O God Our Help in Ages Past," the march down the aisles began and as the clergy led by the Bishop of London in flaming scarlet, disappeared through the western doors, the way was prepared for the royal procession's entry.

The thunder of drums outside announced the principal actors' arrival shortly before 11.

First came the foreign princes and princesses, in wonderful robes in which the royal purple predominated, their long court trains borne by pages and their coronets carried on silken cushions before them.

The Duke of Connaught, brother of the late King Edward and uncle of the present monarch, in the full uniform of a field marshal under his royal robes, took his seat as a royal duke in front of the benches reserved for the highest of British noblemen. At King Edward's coronation the seats of the royal dukes had three occupants, the Dukes of Cambridge, Connaught and Cornwall and York. Today Connaught was left in solitary splendor. His uncle, the Duke of Cambridge, is dead. The Duke of Cornwall and York has risen to the throne, as King George V. And the Prince of Wales, though now the wearer of his father's former titles is not yet of age and cannot take his seat among the peers. The Duchess of Connaught, Princess Arthur and Princess Patricia took their seats in one of the royal boxes.

Then there was an awed hush as the Queen herself, surrounded by her gentlemen-at-arms in scarlet tunics and with nodding plumes and with the Bishops of Norwich and Oxford as supporting prelates, moved slowly down the aisle.

Flashing with jewels and wearing the ribbon of the Garter over her dress—one scintillating mass of gold—Her Majesty made a picture calculated to impress even the beauties occupying the peeresses' seats, though the captions are said to have whispered among themselves that Mary did not really compare with her mother-in-law, Alexandria, on the corresponding occasion nine years ago.

The Queen's train was nearly eighty feet long and of rich purple velvet, bordered with ermine and emblazoned in gold with the emblems of the United Kingdom, the colonies and other heraldic devices. It was supported by Ladies Mary Dawson, Mabel Ogilvy, Victoria Carrington, Eileen Butler, Eileen Knox and Dorothy Browne, daughters respectively of the Earls of Dartrey, Airlie, Carrington, Tansborough, Ranfurly and Kenmare.

Behind the trainbearers came the Duchess of Devonshire, mistress of the robes, and the Duchesses of Sutherland, Hamilton, Montrose and Rutland, whose duty it was to hold the Queen's canopy during the an-nothing. Eight noblemen and gentlemen of the suite followed.

Cheers for the Queen.

Except for the anthem pealing from the organ and choir, the great assembly had remained up to this time profoundly silent, standing reverently, but as the Queen passed the enclosure set apart for their benefit, the boys of Westminster school exercised their traditional privilege of bursting into cries of: "Vivat Regina Maria! Vivat Regina Maria! Vivat! Vivat! Vivat!"

Followed by her attendants, the Queen passed the thrones and took her seat in one of the "chairs of recognition." There was a slight pause, during which the breathless throng seemed oblivious of the sounds of the anthem and of the clasp of the great bells. Then a group of gorgeously dressed state trumpeters appeared in the doorway. Among them was the Richmond Herald in all his glory, supported by the Rouge Dragon and Blue-mantle pursuivants.

The "King's procession" was about to enter. After the party of heralds, trumpeters and pursuivants, paced the Dukes of Argyll and Roxburghe, side by side. One bore the scepter with the cross, the other St. Edward's staff. Behind walked Lord Grey de Rothyn carrying the "gold spurs."

Next came three great noblemen with sneathed swords, emblematic of punishment, protection and mercy. Field Marshal Lord Roberts carried the first, Field Marshal Lord Wolsey the second and the Duke of Grafton the third—the famous pointless blade, "Curtana."

Following the three swords were the four kings-of-arms—the Norroy King, the Clarenceux King, the Ulster King and the Lyon King—tabarded with the respective emblems of England, Wales, Ireland and Scotland.

Then came the Lord High Constable the Earl of Eroll and the Duke of Abercorn, of Scotland and Ireland respectively followed by Lord High Stewards the Earls of Crawford and Shawsbury of the same two countries.

Then appeared the master of today's ceremonies, Henry, Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshall of England, premier duke and earl of the realm, and bearer of a score of other titles. He wore the Earl Marshall's uniform under his robes and carried his baton of office, while two pages supported his train.

Beside him strode the Duke of Fife the king's brother-in-law, carrying the lod high constable of England's baton, and also attended by two pages. Between these dignitaries, but attended by only one page, was the Marquis of Londonderry with the sword of state, ready to be buckled about the Monarch's waist just before the placing of the crown upon his head.

The crown itself came next, Lord High Steward of England, the Earl of Chesterfield, bore it gingerly, glittering on its cushion like a single huge gem. On either side of the crown bearer were the Earl of Lucan, holding the scepter with the dove and the Duke of Somerset with the orb, a golden ball six inches in diameter, and circled with a fillet of pearls and precious stones.

His Majesty's Appearance.

Now a paton of scarlet, a cluster of nodding white plumes and the gleam of halberds announced the approach of the King's personal bodyguard. Following these twenty gentlemen-at-arms there swept majestically across the blue carpet the Bishop of London carrying the crimson bound bible, the Bishop of Winchester the golden chalice and the Bishop of Ely with the patina.

Then the King himself.

His Majesty wore no ordinary uniform on this, his coronation day. His monarch's robes of cloth of gold, crossed by the ribbon and collar of the Garter, set off the beauty of the Royal mantle which last did duty on the shoulders of the Fourth George. On his head he wore the crimson "cap of maintenance" and his long purple robe trailed away behind him, supported by eight youthful noblemen, the sons of the highest peers in England.

Vivat Rex Georgius! Vivat Rex Georgius! Vivat! Vivat! Vivat!

Shrilled the Westminster school boys as the King walked to the second "chair of recognition."

With the star actor's arrival very little attention was paid to the rear-guard of the procession, though many notable personages followed behind their sovereign. The Earl of Granard was among them and so was the Duke of Buccleugh in the extraordinary old world uniform of captain-general of the Royal Archer Guard of Scotland. So, too, were all the great soldiers and sailors of the realm, including the somer and even bored looking Lord Kitchener.

Tailing after came the officers of the household, Hindoo orderlies and the bodyguards of the gentlemen-at-arms and the Yeomen of the Guard.

It was past noon when the Archbishop of Canterbury began the actual ceremony.

First on the program was the "recognition," or presentation of the king to the people. His majesty and the queen having knelt for a moment in silent prayer, George advanced to the center of the dais, while his wife reseated herself in the "chair of recognition." Then, followed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Lord Chancellor Lord Loreburn, Lord Great Chamberlain Earl Carrington, Lord High Constable of England, the Duke of Fife, Earl Marshall the Duke of York and Garter King-at-Arms Sir Alfred Scott-Gatty, the monarch faced successively to the east, south, west and north of the "theatre," and at each corner the archbishop cried loudly: "Sirs, I here present to you King George, the undoubted king of the realm. Wherefore all you who are come this day to do homage, are you willing to do the same?"

As the words rang through the great edifice they were answered by eighty shouts of "God save King George!" At each presentation the king bowed to the corner at which he had been acclaimed. The ceremony

NO MORE HEADACHE
AFTER A 'CASCARET'

Quickly Removes the Cause That Produces the Headache—Cleanses
the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, and You Feel Good at Once.

A cure for the blues for sick headache for biliousness—for the cause of most of these troubles lies in the bowels. A Cascaret tonight means a cheery day tomorrow. Many bright days for ten cents. Are they worth it?

Don't think of Cascarets as a physic. They are candy tablets, as good as they are gentle. Their effect is the same as the effect of some foods. They stimulate the bowels to natural action. Those who have learned what is best carry a box in the pocket. They take one as soon as they need it.

Don't have a bowel wash day.
Don't take physics in large doses and rarely. You wash your face at the first sign of uncleanness. Why not be as clean with your bowels? You know by the symptoms when your bowels need help. One Cascaret right then puts a stop to them. Get a 10 cent box now.

DARK HORSE ELECTED BY
G. A. R. MEN

Senator Burton Censured for Attitude on Pension Bill, the Resolution Being Cheered.

Lorain, June 22.—The election of Judge J. R. Johnston of Youngstown as state commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, department of Ohio, to succeed Gen. Henry A. Ax-line of Columbus, was a big surprise at the annual state encampment held here. The election was held Wednesday afternoon. Judge Johnston was a dark horse, his candidacy not having been announced until the day of his election.

The new commander is a member of Tod Post, Youngstown. His chief opponent for the honor was Charles A. Miller of Cincinnati, who, previous to the election, was looked on as a sure winner. Johnston received 360 votes and Miller 170. August Baldwin of Lorain was elected senior vice commander.

The fact that Springfield is a dry town put Hamilton out of the race for the 1912 encampment. Numerous caucuses were held on the floor of the convention hall on the wet and dry issue, with the result that the veterans decided against Hamilton, which is a wet city.

Miller lost out for commander for the reason, it is claimed, that he was the state candidate for the position, the veterans rebelling at the alleged ring politics injected into the convention. George Knofflock of Mansfield was elected departmental vice commander. Governor Harmon will address the veterans today.

Resolutions censuring Senator Theodore Burton for his opposition to the Sulloway pension increase bill were introduced at the first business session of the encampment by W. S.
Roebuck of the Bellefontaine post.

On motion the resolutions were referred to a committee. Cheers greeted the reading.

Ex-Gov. James E. Campbell of Hamilton headed the delegation from that city in its attempt to get the next convention.

Thousands of people thronged the city to witness the proceedings. Veterans who have attended national encampments say they are reminded of them by the present encampment.

Taft Will Have Opposition.

If the Taft Republicans are really under the impression that the President will have no opposition for a re-nomination, they are laboring under a hallucination.

Senator La Follette of Wisconsin is in the field, and progressive Republican leaders in practically every state in the union are working for La Follette delegates.

"Taft and sure defeat, or La Follette with a chance to win," is the battle cry of the La Follette forces.

"The Marion Star suggests that in the event the wreckage shows that the destruction of the Maine was due to an internal explosion the least we can do is to give back the Philippines, providing the Dons will accept them.
Teddy that the flag shall stay put where it's put.

Now that we have the word from Washington that Monney's likely to be out of a job that pays $2,160 a year,
Mooney having reported to Senator Burton that the only thing he could see that should be done would be to abolish the job, it seems a little bit clear why he drew that mileage at Columbus which had lain there for two years.

James J. Hill says there are only a few politicians in the Northwest opposed to Canadian reciprocity and they are the fellows who are making the most noise in opposition to the proposed agreement. There you have it in few words: it's the few with a hankering for special privilege against the masses of the people. The people are getting next to the game of the few gradually. That game has been,
is now and ever will be a protective tariff high enough for the especial benefit of this same few.

POPULAR SONGS.
A prominent music publisher once said "the best way to judge of a song's popularity is by the number of parodies written on it." In the last twenty-five years there have been put on the market numerous imitations of Hewitt's Easy Task soap—the original white laundry soap. If a soap is worth imitating, it certainly is worth trying.
Hewitt's Easy Task soap has "made good" in countless homes because it really does what others try to do.

HOMING PIGEONS REACH DESTINATION

Mr. P. W. Faust, agent for the Adams Express company at this point, who released the sixty pigeons belonging to the Jeanette Homing Pigeon club of Jeanette, Pa., on Sunday, June 11, has just received word from the secretary of the club giving an account of the flight. The pigeons were released by Mr. Faust at 7 o'clock in the morning, and word comes that the first one reached its destination at 10:45 o'clock. The next four birds reached their cote fourteen minutes later. The distance is 150 miles, air line. The first bird flew 1173.42 yards per minute; the second, 1106.30; the third, 1104.11; fourth, 1103.31; tenth, 1095.90; sixth 1028.87.

OVERRULED MOTION FOR VENUE CHANGE

Valentine Case Must Be Tried in Licking County—Goes Over Until Fall.

Clerk Edwin Larason Thursday morning received a letter from Judge Wickham of Delaware advising him that the motion for a change of venue in the case of the State of Ohio against Tom Valentine, charged with first degree murder, in the lynching matter, had been overruled. He also requested the clerk to notify Prosecuting Attorney P. B. Smythe and Attorneys C. W.
Montgomery and J. W. Leyda, attorneys for Valentine, that the case will have to go over to next fall for trial, because he cannot get any of the judges to try the case, as the judges of the district are not disposed to do any more work than they have on hand in their own counties.

WENDLING LOSES APPEAL.
Frankfort, Ky., June 22.—The court of appeals of Kentucky has overruled the petition for a re-hearing for Joseph Wendling, recently convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for life for the murder of eight-year-old Alma Kellner, in Louisville, in 1909.

NO REASON FOR IT.

When Newark Citizens Show the Certain Way Out.

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that they can be cured. Read what a Newark citizen says:

C. E. Walton, 74 South Second street, Newark, O., says: "I can vouch for the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills, as I gave them a thorough test. My kidneys were inactive for years and caused a dull ache across the small of my back. There was much lameness through my joints and the constant standing which my work required, aggravated the trouble.
After various remedies had failed to help me, I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they brought such great relief that I heartily endorsed them. I willingly confirm my former statement at this time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo,
New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. 32

AFTER THE FLIES.

Oh, hasten, my daughter, and bring me my swatter, the flies they are prancing all over my head! They're buzzing and soaring and drilling and boring, and O how I wish that all insects were dead! Before the hot weather had run me together and melted my innards and brought forth the flies, I did some tall talking; I said it was shocking to murder such insects, dead blither, their eyes! I said it was silly to hit with a billy a poor little fly that should camp on your brow; but such talk was twaddle and foolish and mandlin; the flies didn't bite then as they're biting now! So bring me my swatter, by beautiful daughter, Matilda Louisa Jane Gwendolin Rose; be speedy, Jorgone it—don't wait for your bonnet—a fly at this minute is chewing my nose! It's easy, this dealing in morals when feeling no stings from the insects, no itching or pain; but when they get busy I'll sure knock 'em dirty.
Matilda Louisa Gwendolin Jane!

Baby's Voice

Every woman's heart responds to the charm and sweetness of a baby's voice, because nature intended her for motherhood. But even the loving nature of a mother shrinks from the ordeal because such a time is regarded as a period of suffering and danger. Women who use Mother's Friend are saved much discomfort and suffering, and their systems, being thoroughly prepared by this great remedy, are in a healthy condition to meet the time with the least possible suffering and danger. Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers; it is in no sense a remedy for various ills, but its many years of success, and the thousands of endorsements received from women who have used it are a guarantee of the benefit to be derived from its use. This remedy does not accomplish wonders but simply assists nature to perfect its work. Mother's Friend allays nausea, prevents caking of the breasts, and in every way contributes to strong, healthy motherhood. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers.

YOUNG COUPLE WERE MARRIED AT GRANVILLE

Groom From Mt. Vernon and Bride
From Florida—News from the College City and Vicinity.

Granville, June 21.—Mr. Scott Glore, a well known and highly respected young man of Mt. Vernon, and Miss Lois Jones, a charming and estimable young woman of Kissimmee, Florida, who has been visiting relatives here for some time, were married Wednesday night. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's uncle, Mr. Charles Wright, and was performed by the Rev. F. C. Wright, the grandfather of the bride, in the presence of about twenty-five of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties. At the conclusion of the ceremony and after congratulations had been showered on the happy couple, a delicious wedding supper was served to which all did ample justice. Mr. and Mrs. Glore will make their home in Mt. Vernon. They have the best wishes of all their friends.

The farmers of Licking county are very busy just at this time. Many fields of wheat have been cut along the road between Newark and Granville, while the hay harvest is also in its midst. This is the earliest for some years that the wheat crop has been harvested in this section.

Miss Gladys Jones has accepted a position in the Stuart jewelry store.

Mrs. Albert Jones of Newark spent Tuesday in Granville.

Master Edward Futrer is visiting relatives in Chicago Junction.

Mr. Elmer Heater and Miss Mary Henderson were married at noon Wednesday. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents in Bucyrus. Mr. Heater graduated from Denison University with the class of '08. Mr. Heater is assistant professor of history in Denison, and is a young man who is highly esteemed by all who know him. His bride is a most estimable young woman, and both have the congratulations of all their friends.

A well known resident of the village asked the reporter "How long should spelling be taught in the public schools?" Judging by the apparent need of such study, we should say about six hours a day from the first year grade till the day before commencement with liberal practice during vacation.

Mr. Wilbur Thompson, who has been visiting friends and relatives in Zanesville, has returned home, after having had a very pleasant visit.

Mrs. E. G. Love made a short visit with relatives in Athens, O.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lowe and three children left Thursday for Portsmouth, fronton and Huntington.

Mr. Samuel Shaffer of Newark, has been visiting in Granville for the last few days. Mr. Shaffer returned a few days ago from Springfield, Mo., where he has been making an extended visit with his son, the Rev. Mr. Shaffer.

Parties have been known to drive their horses to town in the morning and then go away, letting the poor animals stand all day without food or water. Any one that would treat a dumb animal in this manner should be arrested. Horses and other animals too, need food and drink just as much as we do.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conley of near Alexandria were in the village Wednesday transacting business.

Farmers in this vicinity report that the hay crop will be very short. However, it will make up in price what it lacks in quantity, so the farmer will not suffer so much as the consumer.

It is reported that fruit of all kinds will be more plentiful this season than for many years, which argues that this is just as good a fruit producing country as any other when the weather is right.

Mr. Thomas Hughes, a well known farmer residing a short distance north of the village, had the misfortune to have a valuable colt badly injured by becoming entangled in some loose hay wire. A veterinarian was called and dressed the injuries and it is expected that it will rapidly recover.

"When the commencements are fairly over and the graduate again finds his feet touching the earth he may begin his real education in the school of life. But the diploma is worth striving for, and must be worked for."

CUT IN STEEL WIRE PRICES.

C. F. RHOADS NEW MANAGER OF ICE PLANT

At a meeting of the directors of the Newark Ice and Cold Storage company, Mr. C. F. Rhoads, the well known merchant tailor, who is a son of the late P. F. Rhoads, was elected manager of the plant to succeed the late F. A. Crane. In the selection of Mr. Rhoads as manager of the ice plant the directors have made no mistake, and it is a sure thing that the business of the company will be managed in a manner that will be entirely satisfactory to all concerned. Mr. Rhoads in conversation with an Advocate reporter Thursday said that it would be his policy to run the plant along the lines adopted by his predecessor and that if his efforts brought the success that had come with the work of Mr. Crane during his twenty years as manager, he would be more than satisfied. Mr. Rhoads has already assumed the management of the plant. He will close out his merchant tailoring business immediately and after the first of July will be able to devote his entire time to the management of the ice plant.

BARN YARD CREATURES NOT STUPID

Acts With Gentry Bros.' Shows Demonstrate Intellect of Sheep and Pigs.

For generations the pig, the goat, and the sheep were considered the most stupid animals. The trainers with Gentry Brothers' All-Star New Feature Shows, however, have disproven the libel. With Gentry Bros.' shows, which will visit this city next Wednesday, is a complete troupe of trained pigs, sheep and goats.

If you were to ask trainers why these creatures are considered the most stupid, the tutors would say it was because those who expounded the theory were not patient enough in training.

Trained dogs rolling barrels, climbing through hoops, etc., are common, but with Gentry Bros.' shows is a troupe of barnyard creatures that do this and more. The scope of animals which Gentry Brothers' trainers have educated runs from lowly swine of the barnyard to the leopard and elephant of India. Their wild animal feature, which is presented in the big show, is said by trainers to be the most marvelous act ever presented to the public.

Gentry Bros.' All New Features Shows carry many European novelty acts, seen this season for the first time in America. Gentry Bros.' shows will give two exhibitions in this city next Wednesday. For this day only admission is reduced to 25 and 35 cents.

LIPPERT CAFE UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

G. W. Adrian has leased the well known Lippert restaurant on the South Side of Square, taking over the management today.

Mr. Adrian is well known here and is an experienced man in this line, having been with J. S. Kuster for the past five years. He already has in hand many changes and improvements and will be prepared to serve to the public the best meals for the money to be had in the city. The best of everything to be had in the markets will always be found in this cafe and short orders of every description will always be had most carefully prepared. Mr. Adrian solicits the patronage of the Newark people and he is well deserving of it. He came to Newark a little over five years ago with only a few cents in his pockets. By thrift and economy and strict attention to work he has saved enough to embark in business for himself and has the respect and regard of all with whom he comes in contact. The Lippert Cafe is located at No. 5 South Park Place.

FRONT-LINE PENNANT WON AT CONVENTION BY LICKING COUNTY

The county secretary is very glad to announce that the Licking county delegates to the State Sunday school convention in Dayton, brought back a beautiful front-line pennant to the Licking County Sunday School Association.

The statistical report for the year, June 1, 1910, to June 1, 1911, shows that there are 110 Sunday schools in Licking county, with a total enrollment of 11,734 pupils. Of the 95 schools which reported to the secretary, 39 have home departments and 63 have cradle rolls, which make the grand membership total for the year 13,428, with an average attendance of 7556.

There are 27 teachers' training classes in the county, with an enrollment of 337. Seventy-eight schools contribute regularly to missions; 28 schools have missionary instructors. There are 269 adult Bible classes in the county, but only 71 of these are organized, according to the state standard. Two hundred and eighty-five pupils have signed the pledge this year, making a total of 1632.

Sixteen schools have observed decision day and 566 Sunday school pupils have united with the church throughout the year, which goes to prove that in some places, at least, the Sunday school is fulfilling its mission.

We regret very much to announce that the county field day, which was to have been held July 4, has had to be abandoned, but we hope that many townships may find it feasible to have a union Sunday school picnic on that day.

The county treasurer must close her books by June 30, and a few of the pledges are not in. The books were to have been closed June 23 but we kept them open the extra days for the convenience of some who wish to pay their pledge before the books close. When the pledges all come in Licking county is free from debt. The note is already paid, but a small loan has been negotiated with a local bank until your pledges are all in.

Yours for a splendid Sunday school year.
CLARICE E. CARROLL,
County Secretary and Treasurer.

SLEEP TIGHT.

There's nothing more refreshing than a good night's sleep in white sweet-smelling sheets washed with Hewitt's Easy Task soap. It cleans and sterilizes bed linen, and how those little night maunders do detest it! Pure, white and sweet. Not a strong greasy soap, full of resin that makes clothes rot out before they wear out. Any grocer can tell you about Easy Task—a nickel everywhere.

AN INSTANTANEOUS WRINKLE REMOVER.

(From Eastern Styles.)

The average woman is always surprised to learn, after experimenting with all sorts of patent so-called "wrinkle removers" that the most effective remedy in the world is a simple face wash which she can make herself at home in a jiffy.

She has only to get an ounce of pure powdered sassafras from her nearest druggist and dissolve it in half a pint of white hazel. Apply this refreshing solution to the face every day. The result is charming—marvelous. Even after the very first treatment the wrinkles show less plainly and the face has a nice, firm, comfortable feeling that is thoroughly delightful and lends self-confidence in one's appearance. This harmless remedy is used by thousands of women to obliterate the unwelcome traces of time.

The prodigal son generally has a better chance of getting home than the borrowed umbrella.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first specialist in the treatment of women's diseases. Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fear as without fee, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Free., Buffalo, N. Y.

A Welcome Change

Smoke curling up from the farmhouse chimney as the men are coming in from the fields, gives a pretty suggestion of a good supper and a comfortable home. But it also means a hot, tired woman, working hard over a blazing fire.

Your wife can escape this with a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

A New Perfection keeps a kitchen many degrees cooler than any other range, yet it does all a coal or wood range can do. It saves time, labor and fuel. No wood to cut; no coal to carry; no ashes; no soot. With the New Perfection oven it is the best cooking device you can find anywhere.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Hand-enameled finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Toad Was Worth $5.
Jewel or No Jewel

EVELYN was telling her father about the little boy who had moved into the house on the corner. He was a little younger than Jack, and she did not approve of her brother having anything to do with the stranger. The little boy on the corner had a taste for strange pets. "And what do you think he has now, daddy? A little hoptoad. He keeps it right under his perch and feeds it bugs and things. It's perfectly disgusting!" concluded Evelyn, proud of her long words. "It's a real funny little hoptoad, though," Jack interposed, thinking he ought to defend his friend. "The hoptoad is a useful little creature," observed daddy mildly as he picked up the shoes and stockings that Jack had carelessly dropped by the door when he had shed his day's garb for the little white bedclothes. "What are they useful for?" came from Evelyn doubtfully. "For one thing, they are great enemies of the mosquitoes and the harmful insects that spoil the vegetables and other plants in the garden. Once upon a time there was a belief that toads carried a magic stone on their heads that would keep any wearer safe from harm and bring all manner of good luck. "When I was a lad I heard this story, and my brother and I decided that we would go out and hunt the lucky toad. We lived in the country and made a fine collection of them, which we kept for awhile in a wire run in a field near the house. "There was one toad that we thought was particularly odd. It was colored and marked a little differently from its fellows. When a toad looked a little odd we hoped it might be the lucky one and would soon sprout the stone. "Well, one day along came an old gentleman with a valise and a lot of jars and butterfly nets and such things. He boarded at our house, and he was always poking and prying around in the woods and bringing home bugs and butterflies and tadpoles, which he kept in a room in the barn. Mother didn't like him very well because of his queer messes, but she said he was a very learned old gentleman. "Well, we took him out to the field, and he just pounced on that queer toad. He turned it over and over and stared at it through a magnifying glass. "It was some rare kind of toad, and the old professor gave us boys $5 for it, which then seemed a wonderful fortune. When he went away he charged us not to believe so foolish a thing as that toads bring good luck. "Maybe they don't, but since that day I've always had a kindly feeling for them, for money is scarce with country boys, and that $5 took us to the circus twice, bought unlimited candy and oranges and other treats.

LEADER IN INDUSTRY AND BANKING

CAPTAIN A. H. HEISEY.

Newly-elected president of the Newark Trust Company.

CORONATION

will perform and keep, so help me God." Then he kissed the Bible and formally signed the parchment upon which the oath was set forth.

Then the king returned to his chair and waited until the choir and orchestra had rendered the hymn, "Veni Creator," a prayer and the anthem, "Zadoc the Priest." Afterward, having with the lord great chamberlain's assistance, taken off his cap of state and crimson robes, he took his seat in St. Edward's chair.

Four gentlemen in black brought forth the golden canopy and four knights of the garter advanced and held it over the royal head. The Dean of Westminster poured a few drops of holy oil from the ampulla into the quail old spoon held ready to receive it, the Archbishop of Canterbury dipped his finger into the bowl and then, turning to the king, he marked the cross in oil on the crown of the latter's head, on his breast and on the palm of each hand, saying in conclusion, "And as Solomon was anointed king by Zadoc, the priest, and Nathan, the prophet, so be you anointed, blessed and consecrated king over this people, whom the Lord your God hath given you to govern."

Having knelt for the archbishop's blessing, the king then reseated himself in St. Edward's chair and, the canopy having been removed, the Dean of Westminster threw over his shoulders the kingly vestments—the "colobium sindonis" and the "super-tunica"—respectively a sleeveless surplice of fine white cambric, trimmed with lace, and a short-sleeved tunic of cloth of gold over which a sword belt was worn.

Then the dean brought the "great spurs" from the altar and handed them to the lord great chamberlain, who knelt, touched the king's heels with them and returned them to the altar.

The nobleman with the sword of state next advanced and surrendered the weapon to the lord great chamberlain. The latter buckled the belt of the latter's head, on his breast archbishop, having blessed the sword itself, placed the hilt in the royal hand, with the words: "With this sword do justice and stop the growth of iniquity, protect the holy church of God, help and defend widows and orphans, restore the things that are gone to decay, maintain the things that are amiss and confirm what is in good order."

At the conclusion of this exhortation, George ungirt the belt and going to the altar, returned the sword there, afterwards returning to his chair. As he took his seat, the blade's original bearer, Lord Londonderry, advanced to the altar to "offer the price of it and redeem" his charge. He handed the sword previously given to him by the Lord Great Chamberlain, received the sword of state in exchange, unsheathed it, and, during the rest of the ceremony, carried it drawn before the King.

Ceremony of Investiture.

Then the monarch rose to be invested with the armilla or bracelet and the Imperial mantle of cloth of gold and when he had resumed his seat, the Archbishop placed the orb in his right hand, saying: "Receive this Imperial robe and orb and the Lord your God endow you with knowledge and wisdom, with majesty and with power from on high, the Lord clothe you with the robes of righteousness and with the garment of salvation. And when you see the orb set under the cross remember that the whole world is subject to the power and empire of Christ our redeemer."

At this the King returned the orb to the Archbishop, who replaced it on the altar and slipped the ring into the fourth finger of His Majesty's right hand. "Receive this ring," he said, "the ensign of kingly dignity and of defense of the Catholic faith."

As the two scepters were next brought up, the Duke of Newcastle stepped forward to discharge his duty as Lord of the Manor of Worktop, of placing an embroidered glove on the king's right hand. Into the same hand the Archbishop thrust the scepter with the cross, the Duke of Newcastle kneeling meanwhile and supporting the king's arm. Then, in His Majesty's left hand was placed the scepter with the dove.

"Receive the rod of equity and mercy," said the Archbishop. "Be so merciful that justice be not too remiss. So execute justice that you forget not mercy. Punish the wicked, protect and cherish the just and lead your people in the way wherein they should go."

Now the Dean of Westminster brought St. Edward's crown from the altar. The Archbishop took it, showing plainly in every movement, as he did so, agitation his brave efforts to conceal his agitation, how deeply the preceding trying ritual had affected him. After a short prayer he placed the crown gently but tremblingly upon the King's head.

Instantly every electric light in the Abbey was turned full on, the silver trumpets brayed the royal salute, the peers clapped their coronets upon their heads and the Abbey fairly rocked with the shouts of "God save the King!"

Outside the sacred edifice, the roll of the drums was quickly drowned in the noise of cheering from hundreds of thousands of throats.

George V. has been crowned King of England.

Guns Thunder Welcome.

According to the requirements of the old ritual "the great guns at the tower were shot off" and the troops along the procession route—indeed, all over England—came to the royal salute.

As the dull boom of the tower cannon mingled with the clashing of the Abbey bells, the Archbishop pronounced the exhortation: "Be strong and of good courage," and the choir took up the theme in "Str Walter Raleigh's" "Be Strong and Play the Man."

Then the Archbishop advanced with the Bible. "Our gracious King," he said, presenting the book to His Majesty, "we present you with this book, the most valuable thing that this world affords. Here is wisdom. This is the royal law. These are the lively oracles of God." And with that he pronounced the benediction.

The "intronization" followed. Theoretically, this means that the King is actually lifted by the bishops and nobles onto the throne. In fact, he walked to it, surrounded by the clergy and great officers of state. As soon as he was seated, the noblemen grouped themselves about the steps and the Archbishop addressed him.

"Stand firm," he said, "and hold fast from henceforth the seat and state of royal and imperial dignity which is this day delivered unto you in the name and by the authority of Almighty God and by the hands of us, the bishops and servants of God, though unworthy as you see us to approach nearer to God's altar, so vouchsafe the more graciously to continue to us your royal favor and protection. And the Lord God Almighty, whose ministers we are and the stewards of his mysteries, establish you stand in righteousness, that it may thrive fast forevermore like as the sun before Him and as the faithful witness in heaven."

Then, led by the Archbishop, the great nobles and prelates proceeded to do homage. In the old days it was customary for the entire assemblage in the Abbey to file past the throne, kneeling in passing and swearing allegiance to the King. Today the order is established according to rank.

Prince Renders Homage.

Then came perhaps the most touching and human part of the ceremony—the Prince of Wales stepped forward to do homage for the royal family. Removing his coronet, the boy knelt before his father, while all the other English royalties knelt in their places, as the clergy had done, and repeated: "I Edward, Prince of Wales, do hereby swear your liegeman of life, limb, and of earthly worship and faith, and truth I will bear unto you to live and die against all manner of folks. So help me God." And rising, with flushed face, the Prince kissed His Majesty, who pressed his hand warmly.

All the other royalties, who had of course substituted their own names in repeating the oath with the Prince, then advanced to kiss the monarch, and to touch his crown in token of their readiness to support the throne.

The royalties having resumed their seats, the peers next took the oath, dukes first, marquises second, earls third, viscounts fourth and barons last, the senior of each order, from the date of the peerage's creation, kneeling on the steps of the throne and touching the crown at the conclusion of the ceremony. The Duke of Norfolk took the oath for the dukes, the Marquis of Winchester for the marquises, the Earl of Shrewsbury for the earls, Viscount Gormanston for the viscounts and Lord Kingsale, whose title dates back to 1172, for the barons.

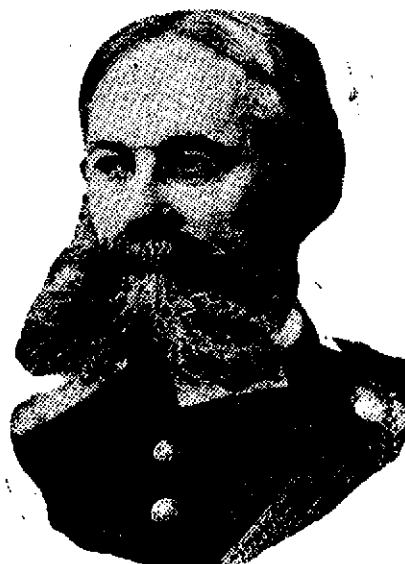

This ended the homage, the trumpets pealed once more, the drums rolled and the great assemblage shouted: "God save King George! Long live King George! May the King live forever!"

Coronation Parade.

An accurate estimate of the number of people who witnessed King George's coronation procession is impossible, but probably well over 1,000,000 spectators were packed along the route of the royal progress.

The magnificent procession road known as the Mall, stretching from Buckingham Palace to the New Admiralty Arch, alone contained a throng that defied enumeration, and the great expanse of Trafalgar Square was black with the thousands who had braved weary hours of waiting in order to miss nothing of the spectacle.

The people came in all classes, nationalities and creeds and enormous numbers of them had taken up positions before dawn. Traffic, of course, was stopped until late afternoon. The earliest arrivals put in an appearance before midnight, provided with camp stools, packages of sandwiches and other refreshments, and the majority of these made for the immediate vicinity of Buckingham Palace. Here they had nothing more interesting to watch than the periodical changing of the sentries and the royal standard flapping above the roof.

Big details of police were on duty all night and prevented the hourly increasing throng from encroaching upon the royal domain. Later in the morning, when the troops began to arrive, the patient thousands were gently but firmly shepherded into the positions they would be allowed to occupy, or pushed back into the Mall and Constitution Hill.

Dawn was greeted by the roar of guns from Hyde Park, where B. B. Battery of the Royal Horse Artillery had planted its field pieces, countless bugles shrilled from the temporary camps pitched in the various parks in or near the metropolitan area, and the great military machine that was to play so important a part in the day's doings was set in motion.

Great Procession Starts.

At 10:30 the activity of the army signals on the palace roof and the roof of the neighboring Queen Anne's Mansions, proclaimed that the procession was starting.

The procession was really divided into three parts—the state procession, consisting of the carriages and escorts of the British and foreign royalties, the Duke of Connaught's procession and the King's procession.

The first started from Buckingham Palace, the second from Clarence House in St. James street, joining the first at Marlborough Gate in the Mall, and the third, which except for His Majesty's personal attendants, was drawn up in the Mall and Constitution Hill, awaited the actual departure of the King and Queen, before following the Duke of Connaught.

The state procession was led by the state trumpeters, the Life Guards band and the advance guard of the escort of Royal Horse Guards. Then followed the state carriages containing the Prince of Wales and the other royal children, relatives, and foreign royalties closely related to the British royal family.

The rear guard of the escort was followed, from Marlborough Gate, by the Duke of Connaught and his family and staff, also escorted by Life Guards. Just as the Duke's procession turned into the Mall, the thunder of guns from Hyde Park announced that Their Majesties were leaving their palace and the third procession moved forward.

An officer of the headquarters staff of the army led the way and behind came trumpeters and the advance guard of the sovereign's escort of Royal Horse Guards, nodding with plumes and gleaming in steel. Then came a dozen of the King's watermen, headed by royal liverymen W. G. East, a quiet group of sturdy bastards in medieval uniforms of scarlet and purple and with broad gold badges.

Next appeared a dozen carriages conveying great officers of state, pages or honor and the ladies of the Queen's retinue. Following these carriages rode the King's aides-de-camp, a brilliant group of regular army and navy, territorial, colonial and Indian officers, the latter including the Maharajahs of Gwalior, Kuch-Bihar, Bikaner and Sikkim, the Nawabs of Rampur and Sir Muhammad Aslam Khan, each a ruler of a practically independent state with from 1,000,000 to 5,000,000 subjects.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN HAYT HAMMOND—MR. HAMMOND IS THE SPECIAL AMBASSADOR FROM THE UNITED STATES TO ATTEND THE CORONATION.

Weird Quarters in Line.

The headquarters staff of the army came next, headed by Gen. Sir William G. Nicholson, chief of the imperial general staff, and behind him rode the great soldiers of the realm, prominent among Field Marshals Earl Roberts and Sir Evelyn Wood. The Knight Marshal's men, another weird medieval band, followed and after them marched a detachment of Yeoman-of-the-guard in scarlet Tudor uniforms, blazoned black and front with the royal monogram.

The King's equerries, riding four abreast, were next followed by the first of the colonial escorts, a sturdy body of Canadian cavalry, and in their rear, in turn, came escorts of Australian and South African horse. Not a few members of the latter troop used their rifles against the British ten years ago and it was characteristic of the changed condition of things to see the same unemotional Boers now bearing the identical weapons for the protection of a British King.

The dusky, turbaned troopers of the Indian cavalry came next and then, preceded by a gorgeous trumpeter in crimson and gold, came the bodyguard proper—the first division of the sovereign's escort of Royal Horse Guards.

As the leading sections appeared in view gruff commands sounded, in which the words "royal salute" could be distinguished, and as the bayoneted rifles of the soldiers who lined the roadway came down to the "present," the regimental colors were lowered to the gravel-strewn pavement, bands struck up the national anthem and the crowd, which had already been cheering well known personages and the colonials, gave vent to one long-sustained roar of enthusiasm.

Royal Couch Appears.

Behind the gleaming caissons and waving plumes of the "blues" there rumbled an enormous, elaborately decorated, picturesque old state coach through the windows of which the spectators in the foreground could occasionally catch just a glimpse of the profile of the King or of the Queen. Eight white horses drew the vehicle, their gold-liveried harnesses glittering in the light. A liveried and bewigged coachman sat proudly on the box, a liveried and bewigged postillion beretted the back of each horse, a scarlet coated groom walked at the head of each and from the rear of the coach there clung a half dozen footmen, also magnificently liveried and bewigged.

Their Majesties seemed in excellent health and spirits and bowed constantly, to right and left, in acknowledgment of their subjects' acknowledgments. They were full state robes but were without their crowns until the return journey from Westminster Abbey.

Americans Who Attended.

America was well represented among the peeresses present at the coronation of King George and Queen Mary. Those entitled to assist in Westminster Abbey were:

Consuelo, Duchess of Marlborough, daughter of W. K. Vanderbilt of New York.

May, Duchess of Roxburghe, daughter of Ogden Goelet of New York.

Helena, Duchess of Manchester, daughter of Eugene Zimmerman of Cincinnati, and wife of an Anglo-American, the Duke of Manchester being the son of the former Consuelo Yznaga, daughter of Antonio Yznaga of Itavenswood, La.

Florence, Marchioness of Dufferin and Ava, daughter of John H. Duffin of New York.

Elena, Countess of Donoughmore, daughter of M. P. Grace of New York.

Margaret, Countess of Suffolk and Berkshire, daughter of Levi Z. Leiter of Chicago.

Adela, Countess of Essex, daughter of Arch. Grant of New York.

Cornelia, Countess of Craven, daughter of Bradley Martin of New York.

Beatrice, Countess of Granard, daughter of D. Ogden Mills of San Francisco, Lady Newborough, daughter of Col. H. M. Carr of Kentucky.

Elizabeth, Lady Clivesmore, daughter of F. O. French of New York.

Vivien, Lady Deedes, daughter of George Gould of New York.

Lady Barrymore, former wife of the late Arthur Post of New York.

Other American women to whom, though they were not strictly entitled to seats, the Abbey was open on account of their husband's close connections were Lady Barrymore's daughter, Nellie, wife of Montague C. Elliot, who was a groom-in-waiting to King Edward; Margherita, Viscountess Maitland, daughter of Anthony J. Drexel of Philadelphia, whose husband is heir to the Earldom of Winchester, and the Hon. Mrs. John Ward, daughter of Ambassador Whitelaw Reid, whose husband is not only a personal friend of the King, but who had unquestioned title to a place in the Abbey with her father's official party.

Lavish Display of Jewels.

Millions of dollars worth of jewels were displayed by the royal guests at the coronation ceremonies.

The Duchess of Manchester wore the handsomest coronet seen in Westminster Abbey at the coronation. The design was positively dazzling, consisting of looped and interlaced circles and scrolls of magnificent diamonds, with an enormous gem at the center of each of the five arches one of which, the famous Nesea stone, was so mounted as to swing with every movement of the wearer's head, flashing beams of light in every direction. The coronet's value is placed at $100,000 and it is whispered in court circles that the Duchess intended it to outshine the Queen's, which is considered to have been extremely bad taste, though people are pretty careful about saying so.

The Princess Christian wore the only coronet set with turquoises—the stones of prosperity. The turquoises alternated with diamonds on raised points. The Duchess of Albany's headdress consisted of a quadruple row of diamonds, surmounted in front by a half sun, the rays of which are formed by glittering brilliants. The Princess Alexander of Teck's tiara was formed of slanting wheatears of diamonds, meeting in front.

The tiara worn by the Duchess of Sutherland, who was one of the four peeresses charged with the supporting of the Queen's canopy, was a geometrical design of pearls and diamonds, lying against a band of diamonds. Pearl-shaped pearls were used to give the headdress greater height. The Duchess of Newcastle's diadem was a straight band of diamond lacework an inch and a half in depth and broadening in front into flat volutes of dazzling stones. Rising from one side of the central spike was a feather, cleverly simulated in diamonds. The Duchess of Beaufort wore a bandeau of diamond roses, rising into high ornamental scrolls in front.

The Duchess of Norfolk, wife of the Earl Marshal, master of today's ceremonies, had upon her head a crown composed of a high garland of diamond oak leaves and acorns, the badge of her husband's family for generations. The acorns were each formed of a single stone.

Lady Dartmouth had a tiara of twelve diamond fleur-de-lis, Lady Harwood a wreath of diamond roses, Lady Beasborough a circlet of seven large diamond clusters resting on a band of smaller stones, Lady Lonsdale a headdress of five large diamond stars rising from spikes mounted on invisible platinum supports and Lady Cranbrook a crown of high arches terminating in points.

As wife of the Viceroy of Ireland, Lady Aberdeen wore eleven pearl-shaped emeralds standing up on high spikes across the front of her crown, with a cross of flat-cut diamonds, embedded in gold and cabochon pearls at the center. Emeralds and diamonds also made up the ensemble in the crowns worn by Ladies Plymouth, Gerard, Carnarvon and Newborough. Lady Newborough, indeed, ran the Duchess of Westminster a close second, the assessed value of the former's tiara being $90,000.

Lady Ripon had a wonderful head-dress made of a fine tangle of diamonds taking the form of a dozen interlaced wreaths. Her daughter, Lady Julia Ruff, had on an immense Cartier bow with a twisted ribbon bandeau, all made of diamonds. Lady Clementine Waring was in a diamond cap designed after the cap worn by Queen Mary Stuart of Scotland. Depending from it, a large heart-shaped diamond rested upon the wearer's forehead. Lady Tweeddale wore a wire band of diamonds with an immense ruby, swinging slightly in the central arch. Lady Antrim had all her family diamonds set in a crown of interlocking wreaths in which were mounted large pearls.

Lady Essex's diamond crown contained eight large single stones set among leaf-like scrolls of smaller gems. Lady Deedes had on the Cartier crown of diamonds given to her by her father, George Gould, as a wedding present. Lady Denham, wife of the governor-designate of Australia, was crowned with diamond leaves. Lady Sandhurst's gems were set into triple roses, standing high in her tiara. A chaplet of diamond laurels was worn by Lady Ashley St. Ledgers. Lady Tennant wore a Russian diadem of pearls and diamonds. Lady Litton had a wide band of pearls and diamonds of somewhat the same pattern as Lady Tennant's.

Health For Sick Women

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or secured so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every woman you meet has either been benefited by it, or knows some one who has.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made exclusively from roots and herbs, and is perfectly harmless.

The reason why it is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the female organism, restoring it to healthy and normal activity.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials such as the following prove the efficiency of this simple remedy.

Coloma, Wisconsin.—"For three years I was troubled with female weakness, irregularities, backache and bearing down pains. I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking several bottles I found it was helping me, and I must say that I am perfectly well now and can not thank you enough for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. John Wentland, R. F. D., No. 3, Box 60, Coloma, Wisconsin.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

PROF. HAWKINS HAS ACCEPTED NEWARK OFFER

Prof. Wilson Hawkins, the recently appointed superintendent of the Newark schools, arrived in Newark at noon today for a conference with the Board of Education.

Mr. Hawkins has formerly announced his resignation as superintendent of the Bellaire schools and his acceptance of the Newark superintendency. The school board of Bellaire offered Mr. Hawkins an increased salary as an inducement for him to remain there, but Mr. Hawkins considering the Newark appointment in the way of professional advancement refused to consider the Bellaire offer.

Mr. Hawkins will remove his family, his wife and two daughters to Newark within the next month. Mr. Hawkins will remain in Newark for several days going over the situation here and familiarizing himself as much as possible in his short stay with the Board of Education and the general mode of procedure adopted here.

Mr. Hawkins is a Jefferson county man and he has risen rapidly in his profession. He taught for several years at Unionport and Mingo and was later chosen superintendent of the Bellaire schools. Mr. Hawkins is not only popular in the school world of Bellaire, but has won a large number of friends.

Mr. Hawkins is of cordial address and with the fulfillment of the progressive ideas he advocates for the management of the schools his appointment will mean much to Newark.

ETHERINGTON CLAIM SETTLED BY COUNTY

The claim of the Etherington estate against Licking county, for the lynchings of Carl Etherington last July has been settled by the county commissioners and Prosecutor Phil B. Smythe for $2,730. The compromise was effected June 10 but for some reason was not made public at the time.

The Prosecuting Attorney and Commissioners had valuable assistance from County Treasurer C. L. V. Holz in accomplishing a settlement which would be entirely satisfactory to everyone who has any interest in the outcome of last summer's unfortunate occurrence.

WHY SHIRTWAISTS GET FLIMSY.

Do you know why your shirtwaists get flimsy and won't "do up" nice? Well you and the washboard rub all of the original surface out of the texture. Of course you have to rub hard when you use poor cheap soap, but you don't have to use that kind. Get a cake of Hewitt's Easy Task Soap. It makes a clean, white ends that takes the dirt right out. Costs only a nickel and makes the work so easy.

COMEDY SKETCH AT AUDITORIUM

A special feature will be added to the regular five reels of pictures which are given at the Auditorium Theatre on Friday evening. This week on Friday evening Mr. Jack Martin and company will present a comedy sketch, "The Wise Kid Tricked."

This is an especially clever little skit and will be presented by people of ability. This added vaudeville feature will probably mean a packed house throughout the evening.

YOU CAN BUY
Dainty Summer Dresses, worth up to $5.00, of light weight Gingham, Tissues, Cotton Voiles and Linons, for $2.95, at 21-22 MEYER & LINDORF'S.

EXCITING RUNAWAY AT MARTINSBURG

Martinsburg, O., June 22.—Peter Hall, a gas well blower of this place, figured in a runaway Wednesday. He was driving and passing an automobile, his horse frightened and ran away. The big capsize, throwing him out on the ground. The small bones of the left wrist were broken and a number of other painful injuries were sustained. As soon as possible he was assisted to the office of Dr. J. E. Shrontz, where surgical attention was rendered and the fractures reduced. The frightened horse was captured, but not until after the buggy had been demolished.

Wins Fight for Life.

It was a long and bloody battle for life that was waged by James B. Mershon of Newark, N. J., of which he writes: "I had lost much blood from lung hemorrhages, and was very weak and run down. For eight months I was unable to work. Death seemed close on my heels, when I began, three weeks ago, to use Dr. King's New Discovery. But it has helped me greatly. It is doing all that you claim." For weak, sore lungs, obstinate coughs, stubborn colds, hoarseness, in gripple, asthma, hay fever or any throat or lung trouble it's supreme. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by F. D. Hall.

SAVE YOUR HAIR; SAGE TEA WILL DO IT

Dandruff, Itching Scalp and Falling Hair Quickly Stopped.

There is one place where bald-headed men shine, and that is in the front row seats of the theatre. If these baldheaded people had used Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy in their earlier days they would not be so conspicuous now. This preparation does not plant new hair, but it does strengthen weak, dying hair, and not only brightens dull, parched hair, but gradually restores the color to faded or gray hair. It is a clean, wholesome hair dressing, which can be used daily with perfect safety.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is sold under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at 50 cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

A Charming Woman

Is one who is lovely in face, form, mind and temper. But it is hard for a woman to be charming without health. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation and kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a godsend to people who want health, beauty and friends. They regulate stomach, liver and kidneys, purify the blood, give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion and perfect health. Try them. 50c. at F. D. Hall's.

GIRL REMAINS LOYAL TO SEE

Memory Fails When Her Answers Would Injure Him—Talks Freely When Answers Are in His Favor.

Chicago, June 22.—Baffling every effort of the state to trap Miss Mildred Bridges, aged 17, high priestess in the cult of Absolute Life, proved a most willing witness for Evelyn Arthur See, her teacher, who is on trial for promoting her delinquency.

So forgetful when it came to answering questions that were injurious to See, the girl seemed to recover her memory when her answers would aid him.

She declared that when her father had begged her to return home from the Temple of the Junior Commonwealth both See and Mona Reese had begged her to do so.

She declared she knew the legal meaning of delinquency and that she was not delinquent.

EARLHAM COLLEGE IS FREE OF DEBT

Richmond, Ind., June 22.—Earlham College is free of debt for the first time in 39 years. President Robert L. Kelly announced at the 49th commencement exercises today.

Friends of the institution have given $28,000 within the last few months, $8000 more than enough to pay off its indebtedness. A class of 52 was graduated. Former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks delivered an address.

NURSED STUDENT AND A MARRIAGE IS THE RESULT

Chardon, June 22.—Eye trouble played an important part in the romance of Howard E. Ferris of Chardon and Miss Flossie Vieda Williams of Burton, which culminated in their marriage at the bride's home in Burton.

Two years ago Mr. Ferris went to Valparaiso, Ind., to study engineering. Miss Williams was studying music in Chicago. Ferris' eyes nearly gave out from overstudy. Chicago and Valparaiso are neighboring cities and Miss Williams read Mr. Ferris' lessons to him. It was then that the couple discovered that all the interest was not in the mysteries of engineering. Miss Williams returned to Burton last June and Mr. Ferris came to Chardon to take the superintendency of the Vandalia schools and their engagement was soon announced.

G. A. R. PARADE TODAY AT LORAIN

Lorain, O., June 22.—Fifty thousand visitors are here today to see the grand parade of the G. A. R. veterans and allied organizations at the state encampment. The veterans will be led by A. R. Johnson of Youngstown, who was yesterday elected state department commander over Charles A. Miller of Cincinnati.

YOUNGSTER AGED 5 DROWNED AT ZANESVILLE

CHILDHOOD SWEETHEARTS MARRIED HERE

Pretty Romance Begun in Wheeling, W. Va., Culminates in Happy Newark Wedding.

A marriage of two young people about which there is a pretty romance, took place in this city at an early hour Thursday morning. The parties were Mr. John W. Roberts, a popular and highly esteemed young man of Bendon, Oregon, who is the cashier in one of the leading banks of that place, and Miss Mary Allen, of this city, who was formerly organist in the St. Paul's Lutheran church of this city. When quite young the parties met in Wheeling, W. Va., and immediately an attachment for each was formed, which has been lasting and which finally culminated in their marriage Thursday morning. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. B. Schmidt, pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran church at his home, 150 North Fifth street, in presence of the bride's brother, Mr. Archie Allen, who is connected with the city engineering department, and several other friends. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts will make an extended tour of the west before going to Bendon, Oregon, where they will make their future home.

MARION'S WATER SUPPLY CUT OFF

Marion, O., June 22.—Marion is today the driest town in all Ohio. Late yesterday the big dredge of the Fobbe company, which is widening and deepening the Little Scioto River, ran over the Marion water company's mains that supply the city. The mains were smashed and the city's water supply was cut off.

The city is at the mercy of fire and will be for the next two or three days at least, as the repairs will take that long, not to mention great inconvenience to householders. The shutting off of the water supply may necessitate the closing of all factories.

Objection to allowing the dredge to pass over the water mains was overcome by the dredge owners giving a $16,000 bond.

BOY BURGLAR SHOT BY CLEVELAND "COP"

Cleveland, June 22.—A battle between two burglars and three policemen, at the home of Fred Boltz, resulted in the wounding of John J. Farris, aged 17. A bullet plowed a ridge in his skull. The boys forced an entrance into the house, which was temporarily unoccupied, and were surprised by the policemen. Farris' companion, Paul Warner, aged 18, surrendered when he saw Farris fall.

REMOVING HER SKIN. (From the Feminine World.)

The quickest and surest way to make a good complexion out of a bad one is to actually remove the thin veil of faded or discolored outer skin from the face. This can be done easily, safely and privately by any woman. The process is one of gentle absorption.

Get an ounce of pure mercolized wax from your druggist and apply it at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. In a few days the mercolide in the wax will have absorbed the disfiguring cuticle, revealing the fresh young skin beneath; you will have a beautiful, clear, natural complexion. The process is pleasant, and harmless, making the face look brilliantly attractive and youthful. It also effectively removes such blemishes as freckles, tan, moth patches, liver spots, pimples, etc. Every woman should keep a little mercolized wax on hand as this simple old fashioned remedy is the best complexion beautifier and preserver known.
